Enware Australia is always looking for different ways to communicate with existing and prospective customers. After being introduced to AutoSpec, we decided this would be a great way of carrying our message of dependability, durability, style and customisation to architects and specifiers around Australia. Especially those companies we don't normally come into contact with.

Putting together the details for Enware's AutoSpec range has been a great collaborative effort. The AutoSpec team have been extremely friendly, approachable and patient! Over 1000 products had to be added to the Enware product library.

The AutoSpec program is a great way for Enware to show off the diversity and flexibility of our product range and we are very happy to be part of it.

Regards,
Tim Robinson
